

Prof. Arnaud DUCHOSAL
LaMé-CEROC
University of Tours, France

Professional Career

Dr. Arnaud has completed his PhD in Mechanical Engineering during June 2006 at the Université de Montpellier 2, France. He has a rich teaching and research experience of around 15 years at the Université de Tours. He was holding various responsible positions during his career at the Polytech Tours, France. He is a Membre de l'Association Française du Titane, Membre l'Association Française du Prototypage Rapide and Membre du Pôle d'excellence Aérocentre. He has published around 50 papers in various reputed international journals on various aspects of machinability studies conducted on different materials.